

Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

15 February 2026 | Sunday

To fulfill the law...

Matthew continues the Sermon on the Mount with a three part instruction by Jesus on the Way of Life in the kingdom of heaven. Today's reading is part one and deals with the Law. Part two deals with worship and religious practice and contains the Lord's Prayer. Part three deals with trusting God and deeds of loving service to our neighbor.

When Matthew speaks of "the Law and the prophets" he means the whole Scripture. When the Messiah brings the fullness of the kingdom none of scripture will be done away with. Instead it will be fulfilled. Matthew's Jesus does not overturn the Law of Moses, nor does he set his followers free from the Law. He requires his followers to go beyond the Law by doing more than the Law requires.

The Law condemned murder. Jesus condemns anger. The Law condemned adultery. Jesus condemns even lustful looks. As Jewish Christians who had always been faithful to the Law Matthew's community need a way to understand the difference Jesus and the kingdom he brings have made. They affirmed that God had always been at work in history through "the Law and the prophets." But God's work goes beyond that to be embodied by the Messiah who reveals the definitive will of God. The written scriptures and their interpretation in tradition are surpassed by Jesus whose life and teaching are the definitive revelation of the will of God.

Lent

The season of Lent gives us an opportunity to reflect upon the incredible mystery of God's merciful love: "In the face of the darkness of sin and man's incapacity to free himself on his own, there appears in all its splendour the saving work of Christ." Motivated by his individual love for every person, Christ took upon himself the punishment we had earned by our sins, and by his suffering and death, he restored our relationship with God and offered us the gift of salvation. We accept that gift by being united to his death and resurrection - also called the Paschal Mystery - in the sacrament of baptism, which gives us the grace to die to sin and rise to new life in him. However, deepening this union with the crucified and risen Christ is a lifelong process. We are still inclined to sin; thus, "it is only by the road of conversion that we can enter the Kingdom

Lent is a time when we recognize not only God's redeeming love but also our need for this conversion: we acknowledge the ways in which, by our sin, we have said "no" to God and rejected or damaged the relationship which he died to restore. Moreover, our Lenten reflection on Christ's crucifixion shows us the effect of our sins upon the one who thirsts so ardently for our love. On Ash Wednesday, we hear the words, "Remember that you are dust, and to dust you shall return" and receive ashes as a sign that we recognize our utter dependence on God's mercy and our need for repentance. The ashes are administered in the shape of a cross, reminding us that Lent is a time to unite ourselves ever more closely to Christ's cross, death, and resurrection. We can do this by dying to those habits or attachments which prevent us from loving God with all our heart, soul, and mind and loving our neighbour as ourselves (cf. Mt 22:37, 39).

By rejecting sin and imitating the self-emptying love of Christ, we draw closer to him in this life and prepare to live with him eternally in heaven. Furthermore, "[because] he has in some way united himself to every man, 'the possibility of being made partners, in a way known to God, in the Paschal Mystery' is offered to all men" (CCC 618). Thus, our sacrifices made in love, when united to Christ's, help obtain not only our own salvation but the salvation of the whole world.
